

KNOW THE GAME

Here are some useful links to do with Basketball. If you have some more that may be useful please email us!

<http://www.basketball.net.au>

The official site of Basketball Australia

<http://www.ababasketball.net.au>

The official site of the Australian Basketball Association

<http://www.nbl.com.au>

The official site of Australia's very own National Basketball League.

<http://www.wnbl.com.au>

Women's Basketball in Australia also has its own site.

<http://www.basketballvictoria.com.au>

The Home of Basketball in Victoria. Everything you need to know about basketball in our state.

<http://www.vbl.net.au>

The Victorian Basketball League

<http://www.tigers.com.au>

Victoria's only team in the NBL for 2004-2005 season.

<http://www.seabl.com.au>

The official site of the South East Australian Basketball League. Australia's largest interstate sporting competition, that has developed some of Australia's greatest ever basketballers, including Andrew Gaze and Luc Longley.

Coaching

The Unites States is the home of basketball so here are some sites which coaches and budding coaches might find useful.

<http://www.hoopsclub.com/playbook.htm>

Blue Eagles basketball Club. Good information on offensive plays complete with animations.

<http://www.coachesclipboard.net>

The Coach's Clipboard. A very comprehensive site offering free downloads and the opportunity to buy an entire Playbook of some 300 pages! Coach James Gels who runs this site even find the time to respond to emails if you write to him!

<http://www.bbhighway.com>

The Basketball Highway. A most comprehensive site containing lots of information of Basketball in the states but quite useful resource for coaching.

More Stuff

<http://www.nba.com>

The official site of the NBA in the USA with video, images and stats on all teams

<http://www.hoopmechanix.com>

This is a great website. Inside you will find tons of information related to basketball and the advancement of both on-court fundamentals and off-court knowledge and trivia to amaze your friends with. There's memorabilia for sale on eBay (search under hoopmechanix), book and instructional video reviews, articles, drills, plays, and so much more. This is also the source for the article, "Winning isn't measured in W's".